

Distribution of Materials to School Personnel

Advertising materials of commercial, political or religious nature shall not be displayed or distributed in the school or on the school grounds.

The name of a commercial firm or other organization appearing on a free teaching aid is not considered undesirable and shall not be construed as advertising.

Bulletins, except those necessary for routine administration, must be approved by the Chief School Administrator (CSA) before being posted or issued. This policy does not address communications from employee associations to their members.
