

Making Memories with Mom and Dad

April 26, 2018, KRHS celebrated Bring Your Children to Work Day. Kids of all ages accompanied their parents to learn about their parents jobs and have some fun as well.

Here Yuki Wykoff allows a snake to slither around her arm. The two pose for a picture to capture the moment. Just goes to show that animals and humans can co-exist.

Here Mr. Chamberlain holds a snake for the children to see. Though he is not fluent in Parseltongue, the group had an interesting conversation regarding our reptile friends. Did you know that a snakes have rear-facing teeth to hold in their prey? There are no snakes in the following areas:

- Antarctica
- Iceland
- Ireland
- Greenland
- New Zealand

There is always something for everyone to learn at KRHS!

To keep their right brain and left brain working in harmony, some of our visitors took the time to show off their artistic flair. Perhaps we have a future Picasso or Renoir among us?

Close-up of Shelby Jones, we all know that look. "Mom, I am trying to paint and you want me to pose for pictures."

In spite of all the picture taking, everyone seemed to have a great time.

Mr. Vesper is coaching Logan Mate about archery.

There was so much to do at KRHS on this special day. Thank you to all the students and teachers who showed our guests a terrific time.
