

The Interact Club is on a Mission

The Early Act program is a club designed by the KRHS Interact club to get elementary students involved in community service. Interact members travel to the local elementary schools to work on age-appropriate projects with different classes. KRHS Interact students have been working on paracord bracelets for Operation Gratitude. These bracelets are included in every care package sent to a member of the military as a symbol of appreciation for their service and as a lifesaving tool, they may utilize in times of trouble.

The sixth graders at Sandyston-Walpack and McKeown schools both volunteered to assist in making these bracelets. The students made thirty bracelets to send to Operation Gratitude.

Thank you to the Interact and EarlyAct club members. Your community service reminds us all, our greatest strength comes from being there for one other.
